

Astronaut Will Return Today For Welcome

By RALPH DIGHTON

ABOARD USS KEARSARGE APPROACHING HONOLULU (AP) — Gordon Cooper comes "home" to Honolulu today and the first of a series of welcomes honoring his heroic feat of orbiting the earth 22 times in a 34-hour tour through space.

On the agenda were parades and receptions in Honolulu, at Cape Canaveral, Washington and New York, including a meeting with President Kennedy and an address to a joint meeting of Congress on Tuesday.

First in both time and importance for the quiet-spoken 36-year-old Oklahoma airman was a reunion at Hickam Air Force Base at 1 p. m. Honolulu time with his wife, Trudy, and daughters Camala, 14, and Janita, 13.

The Cooper family arrived in Honolulu late Friday.

The 41,000-ton carrier Kearsarge, which plucked Major Cooper out of the Pacific 96 miles southeast of Midway Thursday afternoon, plowed along at 25 knots to keep the appointment.

It was in Honolulu that the Coopers met and married in 1947 when they were University of Hawaii students.

After a downtown parade and reception at Iolani Palace, the statehouse that once was the seat of Hawaiian royalty, and at the home of Gov. John A. Burns, the Coopers were scheduled to leave by jet plane at 8:30 p. m. for Cape Canaveral.

It was from Cape Canaveral that he rocketed off to glory last Wednesday morning.

Civic ceremonies at nearby Cocoa Beach, Fla., and a day of rest will precede the visit to Washington Tuesday.

President Kennedy laid out a reception in the White House rose garden, and congressional leaders invited Cooper to speak to a joint meeting.

John Glenn, the "first" American to go into orbit, addressed a joint meeting last year. Cooper will be flanked by Glenn and the other five original astronauts of Project Mercury.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, who announced the invitation to Cooper, said it was arranged both to salute his outstanding space accomplishment and to mark the presumed conclusion of the Mercury space project.

Next after Mercury will be the Gemini project, to put two men into orbit in a single capsule. The goal beyond Gemini will be manned flight to the moon.

New York will honor Cooper and his family Wednesday with a traditional ticker tape parade.

The prospect of so many public honors had no visible effect on the calm object of it all as he bounced cheerfully about the Kearsarge, submitted to protracted physical examinations and reported on the wonderful scene views from 110 to 166 miles above the earth.

Adlai Wants Leeway in Assignments

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson asked Congress today to give him more leeway in assigning his top aides in "this fast moving business" of representing the United States at the United Nations.

He also asked for special housing allowances for about 20 top U.S. representatives at the United Nations in New York, saying diplomats recognize service there as the most expensive post in the world.

Stevenson urged the House Foreign Affairs Committee to approve legislation revising the U.N. Participation Act.

He said revision of the law on appointment of senior officers to the U.S. mission would let him treat five top men "as a group of interchangeable representatives" who could be assigned to various duties.

"In this fast moving business of ours, in which several important meetings may be going on at the same time, it does not make sense to limit the availability of each of these men to particular organs of the United Nations," Stevenson said in his prepared testimony.

Next Flight Likely to Be 18 Months

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Will it be another 18 months before America again sends a man into space?

The man who ought to know, D. Brainerd Holmes, says there is better than a 50-50 chance that it will be at least that long before a U.S. astronaut again thrills the world.

Holmes, director of the Manned Space Flight Program for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, was asked at a news conference Thursday night if another Mercury flight will follow Gordon Cooper's sensational 34-hour mission.

He said he stood by his recent congressional testimony that there was less than a 50 per cent chance that there would be another Mercury flight.

"But," he said, "a decision must wait until we analyze data from Gordon Cooper's flight. We must determine what we learned from the flight, what questions were asked, and are they important enough to know before we move on into Gemini."

JFK Talks With Envoy to Moscow

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy conferred today with Chairman Glenn T. Seaborg of the Atomic Energy Commission, who flies to Moscow Saturday to sign a new agreement on peaceful uses of atomic energy.

The AEC head and nine other officials and scientists will fly to Moscow from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., aboard a military-type Boeing 707.

Seaborg's principal mission in the Soviet Union will be to sign a memorandum extending through 1965 an American-Soviet agreement on cooperation in the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

The old agreement has been considered a success and the AEC has said the new version will contain additional provisions of interest to scientists of both countries.

JFK; Wallace To Meet At Muscle Shoals

By JACK STILLMAN

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A tense weekend lies ahead for racially troubled Birmingham with threats of renewed bombings reported.

While the stage was set for a meeting of President Kennedy and Alabama's segregationist Gov. George C. Wallace in north Alabama, police here ordered tighter security measures.

Kennedy and Wallace were expected to meet at a Tennessee Valley Authority anniversary observance at Muscle Shoals, where the President is scheduled to speak.

While rumors forecast an uneasy weekend, police chief Jamie Moore said: "We are taking precautions which we consider necessary."

Although he declined to elaborate, armed guards were posted at some buildings which could possibly be targets of bombers. Highway patrolmen guarded the streets, as they have since last weekend's violence.

Anonymous telephone threats have been received by Negro leaders, some white businessmen and various places of business.

In other developments:

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said at Asheville, N.C., that damage inflicted upon the U.S. image abroad by incidents like the Birmingham racial crisis is great, but superficial.

The effects of racial strife here dominated the Alabama legislature at Montgomery as lawmakers voted to stand solidly behind Wallace, who challenged Kennedy's sending of 3,000 riot-trained soldiers to bases in Alabama.

Birmingham police commissioner Eugene (Bull) Connor urged the people to leave the handling of racial demonstrations to law enforcement officers. He spoke to the Montgomery Citizens Council.

Four Negroes and five white persons were named to a biracial committee by the Anniston City Commission to help solve any racial problems existing in that Alabama city.

The city of Huntsville, Ala., site of Redstone Arsenal and the Marshall Space Flight Center, hired its first Negro policeman, and the Madison County Commission voted to remove white and Negro signs from the courthouse at Huntsville.

U.S. District Judge H. Hobart Grooms refused to order the University of Alabama at Tuscaloosa to produce files of students who have applied for admittance since last February. Three Negroes are seeking admittance to the school.

Nikita Keeps Door Open for A Talks

LONDON (AP) — Diplomatic sources said today Soviet Premier Khrushchev is keeping the door carefully open for further negotiations on a nuclear test ban.

Westerners expect the recent correspondence among President Kennedy, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Khrushchev to continue.

This in itself is interpreted as a sign that the three nuclear powers believe there is still a chance to salvage the test ban negotiations in Geneva after 4½ years of frustration.

Khrushchev reportedly has informed Kennedy and Macmillan that the Soviet government does not feel obliged to offer more than three on-site inspections a year. The West wants seven checks annually. A possible compromise that has been suggested would call for 35 inspections spread over a seven-year period with the right to use as many checks as wanted in any one-year period.

British Officer Visits U.S. Base

WASHINGTON (AP) — The commandant of Britain's marines to day visited the U.S. Marine barracks which the Royal Marines spared from the torch when Washington was burned in the War of 1812.

Lt. Gen. M. C. Cartwright-Taylor went to the ancient barracks to receive full military honors this morning.

The barracks is near Washington.

Wells Fargo Makes Regular Run Through Hope

Wells Fargo, usually connected with stage coaches of the Old West, is a far cry from that mode of travel today. An armored car makes the run through Hope weekly, taking on and unloading any amount of money required. This is the third route established in Arkansas by the Federal Reserve service. The run is from Little Rock to Texarkana and the return is via Highway 70, south.

Preparations for Festival Completed

With the poultry festival just a few days away local civic clubs are preparing to do their part to make it a success. The Lions club will cook the 2,500 chickens starting at 2:00 a. m. with Y. C. Coleman in charge. They will deliver them to the home demonstration club at the High School cafeteria where they will be boxed and ready to serve at 5:30 p. m.

The Jayettes will act as hostesses for the princess contestants as they arrive at the Barlow starting at 8:30 a. m. Mrs. Lee Roy Anderson and Mrs. Don Fuller will be in charge. They will also arrange for contestants to meet judges at a special coffee at 9:30 a. m. in the melon room. The Jayettes come into the limelight at 11:00 a. m. with the parade. Roger Pitts will be the chairman and is now securing bands and convertibles as well as other components for the parade.

The Jayettes will stage a luncheon for princess contestants, chaperones, and judges at 12 noon at the Barlow. This is not open to the public.

The Jayettes will stage the next event at 2:00 p. m. at the Barlow Melon room. The girls will have their preliminary judging and interviews at this event and this is not open to the public. The next public event of the day will be the open house at Delight Egg Farm Depot from 3 to 5:00 p. m. This will afford an opportunity for local persons and visitors to see one of the finest installations of this type in America.

The Kiwanis Club will have the stage and dressing rooms ready for the 4:00 p. m. rehearsal. This will make 4th time the Kiwanis Club has accepted this job and they always come thru superbly.

The Home Demonstration Club will offer the chicken boxed and ready in the cafeteria at 5:30 p. m. You then take your chicken to the stadium where the band boosters will offer drinks and additional refreshments. The Hope High Band will play a concert starting at 6:15 p. m. There will be drawings for prizes at frequent intervals. You must be present to win.

The Junior Auxiliary will stage the pageant, assisting the contestants in preparing for their many KTAU-TV will serve as MC this year. The Rotary Club will stage the final event of the festival, The Princess Ball at the Youth Center. Music will be by the Blue Notes of Texarkana. The Youth Center is air conditioned and should be very comfortable for this event.

The final job will be the clean up carried out by the city sanitation Dept. The Hope Police Dept. will be in charge of parking and traffic. George Frazier, the general chairman, says the poultry festival is really a community effort and it takes many organizations and individuals to stage a successful one. Observers from Nashville are expected to be on hand for the event this year since they will stage it in 1964.

Two Bids Opened

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Army Engineers at Little Rock opened two bids Thursday on construction and installation of 21 aluminum canopies to cover the operating machinery of the tainter gates at the Dardanelle Dam. An apparent low bid of $48,797 was submitted by Lane's Aluminum Industries, Inc., of Fort Worth, Tex.

A Couple of More 'Spring' Communities in Hempstead Have Rich Backgrounds

By MARY ANITA LASETER

Before springtime leaves us entirely, let's take a look at two more "spring" communities in our area — Spring Hill and Shover Springs.

Spring Hill was a thriving town in the early days of Southwest Arkansas. It received its quota of settlers from the second wave of emigrants along in the 1830's, or possibly later.

In 1836 A. R. Banks, pioneer Presbyterian minister, member of the Bethel Presbyterian Church of South Carolina, organized the Spring Hill church with F. W. Campbell, John Shepperdson, Margaret Moulton, Tabitha Stuart, and Selta, a servant of the Moultons, as members. The Arkansas Presbytery held a session at the Spring Hill church soon after its organization, and a goodly number were taken into the church and baptized, according to reports.

Spring Hill had a Female Academy, and the session met in it in 1839. It was a well-known school, and many ancestors of present-day residents of the area were students there. Formal schooling was rare in those days, and Hempstead County people (or those in the area now called Hempstead) were fortunate, indeed, to have had such a school.

Weddings in the Spring Hill Presbyterian Church were of social interest then, and are of historical interest now, especially to the descendants of the participants. A. R. Banks, who always signed the records as "Moderator," was married there to Miss Elizabeth Pratt with the Rev. Elisha Battle officiating. In 1839 Judge Jenkins of Shreveport, La., was married to Miss Olivia Battle of Spring Hill, and J. L. Boulton was married to Miss Charlotte E. Paup, member of the Spring Hill church, in 1845.

Marriages and baptisms were performed by A. R. Banks, A. Williamson of Washington, and sometimes by J. W. Moore. By the year 1847, the membership was greatly diminished because of death or other causes, and the few remaining members united with the Washington church as the nearest of the same denomination.

During the latter part of the 19th century, the Chalybeate water of the Shover spring became known for its medicinal qualities, and the little settlement known as Shover Springs into prominence as a summer resort. Many of the families in the area would go for a week or more to this little resort in southeast Hempstead County.

Mr. and Mrs. Giles ran a small hotel there for a while. Little rent houses were erected and some even brought their tents with them. Barn dances and other entertainments were indulged in, and visitors came from all over Southwest Arkansas.

Just as this little place was at its height, the rumor started that probably caused the decline of Shover Springs as a resort. Up on the hill beyond the spring there was a cemetery, and the story was started that the water from this cemetery would drain down into the spring. Whether this ridiculous story was responsible or not, people quit patronizing the place, and today little is left of its past glory.

Thurber's Humor Is Very Elusive

NEW YORK (AP) — The impish, elusive humor of James Thurber is brought to Broadway neatly in "The Beast In Me."

Using 11 of the modern Aesop's Fables for basic material, the musical review premiered Thursday night at the Plymouth Theater. The tunes are lightly fey and jazzy, the dances fetching, and the prevailing mood contagiously amiable.

Principals in the cast are Kaye Ballard, a comedienne of powdy wit, and Allyn Ann McLerie, a ballerina of sinuously provocative allure. With them are Richard Hayes, Nancy Haywood, Bertie Convy and, far from least, James Costigan.

Besides being one of the busiest of the performers, Costigan is responsible both for the adaptation from Thurber and for the lyrics that accompany Don Elliott's score.

In most episodes, the initial stories serve merely as takeoff points for free-handed revisions and expansions. The lunacy isn't always inspired but the overall results are ingratiating and true to the original spirit of blithe mockery.

The settings by Jean Rosenthal and costumes by Leo Van Witsen are brightly attractive. John Lehne's direction and the dance arrangements by Judd Wolfin are sprightly.

"The Beast In Me" Makes merry summertime mischief.

ASTRONAUT
Gordon Cooper heads homeward to a hero's welcome after pushing man closer to the moon with a spectacular space flight.

If there is another Project Mercury space flight, it may be an open end affair with the astronaut staying in space as long as he is safe.

The capital prepares a gala welcome for Cooper but postpones it 24 hours to give him an extra day's rest.

Communists Bulgaria Is Purging

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP) — Communist Bulgaria has launched a sweeping reorganization of its government and economy in a tight centralization scheme copied from the Soviet Union.

The move was announced by Todor Zhivkov, premier and party chief, in a report to the party's Central Committee earlier this month and published today by the official news agency BTA.

The reshuffle creates a maze of new titles, functions and responsibilities which Zhivkov said were necessary to "improve the structure of the party, state and economic organs and their leadership." He warned however that Bulgaria "must not be taken back to the old type of excessive centralization and interference" of the Stalinist days.

Zhivkov appealed to "the broadest circles of our people, Communists and non-Communists," to support his program.

Zhivkov's report did not indicate any drastic changes in the government and party leadership. The party now appears to be consolidated after last year's dramatic ousters of leading Stalinists and Zhivkov's rise to undisputed leadership.

Here's What They Say About Cooper

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Here's what they said about Gordon Cooper's space flight:

President Kennedy: "Peace has her victories as well as war, and this was one of the victories for the human spirit today."

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson: "The magnificent flight of Faith 7 with the intrepid Gordon Cooper at the controls is a shining star in our national space program."

Soviet Premier Khrushchev: "A new contribution to the exploration of the expanses of the universe. Congratulations and best wishes to the courageous American astronaut Gordon Cooper."

Id. Cmdr. Benjamin C. Fairchild, chaplain of the USS Kearsarge: "Our prayer of thanksgiving joins those of Mrs. Cooper and the girls. May all that we learn of the wonders of this universe make us more conscious of Thy presence, more sensitive to Thy hand upon our lives."

Mrs. Trudy Cooper, the astronaut's wife: "We are a very proud family."

Mrs. Orena Herd, grandmother: "I'm glad this is over."

Mrs. Hattie Cooper, his mother, to Mrs. Herd: "We'll have it to do over again, mama, when Gordon goes to the moon."

Kennedy Gets a Farm Bill Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats have given President Kennedy a major farm program victory, passing the administration's feed grains control bill before a nationwide wheat controls referendum comes up for a vote Tuesday.

Seventeen Republican amendments designed to delay final passage of the bill were beaten back before the Senate stamped a 43-35 vote of approval Thursday night on continuing voluntary controls over corn and livestock feed grains for the next two years.

In a last-minute move of desperation, the Republicans tied their hopes for delay on a typographical error; but the Senate voted 43 to 34 to have its clerk make the correction, as usual.

Since no change was made in the version already passed by the House, the bill goes to the President on Monday for his expected signing into law.

Ambassador To Yugoslavia Is Resigning

WASHINGTON (AP) — George F. Kennan, a recognized expert on communism and a top figure in American diplomacy, will resign this fall as ambassador to Yugoslavia.

In making this announcement Friday, the White House said the 59-year-old diplomat is returning to academic life and that no decision has been reached on a successor.

Kennan "has informed the President that he feels it necessary to return this autumn to his academic duties," the White House said, and the resignation is "in accord with ambassador Kennan's long standing plans."

Envoy in Belgrade since March 7, 1961, Kennan took a leave of absence from the Institute for Advanced Studies at Princeton, N.J., to return to government service.

A former ambassador to the Soviet Union, Kennan was eased out of the State Department in 1953 by Republican Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. The reported reason was differences with the Eisenhower administration on foreign policy.

Speaking Friday in Belgrade, Kennan indicated such was not the case with the Kennedy administration.

"I much regret that certain press reports have given the impression that I felt my views had not been sufficiently heeded by the administration. This is incorrect," Kennan said.

"I am greatly appreciative of the confidence shown in me by the President and the secretary of state and of the consideration they have at all times given to my views and reports."

Striking a note of criticism, Kennan added that "certain measures affecting Yugoslavia taken by the last Congress were, indeed, a great disappointment to me."

He referred here to the removal of the most favored nation clause in trade with Yugoslavia, a veteran of 29 years in the foreign service, Kennan is an outspoken man. He was booed out of Moscow in 1953, declared "persona non grata" by the Soviet Union. He had compared Soviet treatment of Western diplomats with the way the Nazis treated them in Germany.

The restaurant atop the Space Needle at the Seattle World's Fair forms the unusual setting for a romantic scene between Elvis Presley and Joan O'Brien in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "It Happened at the World's Fair." Presley introduces ten new song hits in the Panavision and Metrocolor attraction, co-starring Gary Lockwood, and directed by Norman Taurog.

Your latest visit to the dentist may belie this fact, but dentistry has become almost painless in comparison to what it used to be. Until about 1000 A.D., surgeons believed in extracting loose teeth only and relied on crude instruments. During the period of 1400 to 1750 new instruments made new techniques available.

Earth Men Involved in Situations

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — While man triumphed beyond the imaginings and abilities of his grandfather-in the earth-orbiting of astronaut Gordon Cooper—here he low man didn't change much.

President Kennedy called Cooper's feat one of the "victories of the human spirit." Thousands had a part in it. It was a supreme example of how men working together can achieve a dream.

But in the time it took Cooper to orbit 22 times in space, 20th century man on earth was still involved in situations which had not progressed beyond the inclinations and abilities of the men who lived in caves.

They included tyranny, spying, sudden death by executioners racial prejudice, suspicion, insecurity and man's inability to get along with his neighbors for his own sake.

While Cooper talked to earth from his space ship, President Duvalier, the tyrant of illiterate and poverty-stricken Haiti, was telling newsmen he intended to keep the presidency even though his legal term ended as he talked.

Reason and justice and the will of the people—three other victories which man achieved late and often forgets—are not considerations in Duvalier's lust for power. In fairness to Duvalier it must be said he is not the only tyrant loose in this century. He's just clumsier than some of the others.

Meanwhile Moscow was reporting that Col. Olegkovsky, convicted of spying for the West after a Soviet trial, was executed in accordance with the findings of the court.

This happened while Britain was accusing an Italian scientist, Dr. Giuseppe E. Martelli, of spying for Russia.

The spying the West does on Russia and Russia on the West is such a normal condition in international relations that it looks abnormal only when discovered. It is almost bad manners to be caught.

Spying—a symbol of nations' distrust of one another—may be considered a morbid manifestation of man's insecurity and inability to get along with himself in reasonable fashion.

But it is a safe bet that man, now working overtime on the project, will learn how to reach the moon before he learns how to live at peace even though not learning may end in his own annihilation.

In the South, where white citizens still insist on discriminating against Negro citizens by segregation, the racial trouble stayed cool in Birmingham, perhaps only because of Kennedy's readiness to use troops.

It boiled elsewhere. In Greensboro, N.C., hundreds of Negro students demonstrated against discrimination in a cafeteria and several theaters and went to jail for their trouble.

Since more and more Negroes of the South are showing impatience against discrimination and prejudice, in the end there may be a violence worse than anything in this century.

Reasonable arrangements there might avert disaster but reason is working grudgingly.

One thing is sure: Cooper saw more peace in space, where there was no one but himself, than he ever saw below.

JFK to Address College Group

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — President John F. Kennedy will deliver the commencement address and receive an honorary degree at San Diego State College on June 6.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown said he confirmed the arrangements in a telephone conversation with the President Thursday.

Higher Interest

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Teacher Retirement System continued its policy Thursday of selling low-interest yielding bonds at a loss for the purpose of reinvesting the funds for higher-yield, selling $1,335,144 worth of bonds for $1,738,624. The sale cleared out all the 3-per cent or less interest yield bonds in the system's portfolio, executive director Hoyt Pyle said.

Mrs. Charles Edward Porter

Miss Betty Sue Hulsey became the bride of Charles Edwards Porter at 5 p.m. Saturday, May 18, 1963 in the Welch Street Baptist Church in Little Rock. Miss Hulsey is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Hulsey and the granddaughter of Mrs. A. M. Hulsey, both of Washington. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Daisy B. Abadie of Atlanta, Ga. and the late Charles Porter of Judsonia.

Rev. Charles Alkinson officiated the double-ring ceremony, and Miss Wanda Jennings of Little Rock, presented a program of organ music.

Misses Jeannette and Linda Kay Hulsey, cousins of the bride, lighted the candles in the two seven branched candelabras prior to the ceremony. They wore identical pink frocks and white carnation wristlets.

Other altar decorations included two baskets of white gladiolus and stock.

The bride, given in marriage by her Uncle, Mr. Thurston Hulsey, of Washington, wore a street length dress of white satin with a bodice of Chantilly lace with 3-quarter sleeves and a scooped neckline. The bouffant skirt had a front panel of lace. Her brief veil of illusion was attached to a tifa of lace and seed pearls. The only jewelry worn by the bride was a drop pearl and diamond necklace which was a gift from the groom. She carried a bouquet of white stephanotis centered with a purple-throated orchid.

Mrs. Fred Dunnaway of Little Rock was the matron-of-honor and only attendant. She was dressed in a lilac lace with a bouffant skirt with matching accessories. Her flowers were white carnations with lilac trim.

Fred Dunnaway served as best man. The ushers were Ralph Croy and Johnny Bagly all of Little Rock.

For her granddaughters wedding, Mrs. Hulsey wore a Nancy blue dress with matching accessories. Mrs. Abadie, the groom's mother, wore a blue lace sheath dress. Each had a white carnation corsage.

A reception in the church annex followed the wedding. The Brides table was covered with a white cloth centered with pink roses. Serving the tiered wedding cake and punch was Mrs. B. L. Ross and Mrs. W. V. White of Little Rock. Mrs. J. W. Koon also of Little Rock was in charge of the Brides' Book.

Out-of-town guest included Mrs. Elizabeth Crosby, Mrs. L. A. Housley, Mrs. Josephine Parker and Miss Carolyn Abadie, all of Atlanta; Miss Andria Halford of Eugene, Oregon; Miss Josephine Lon Allen of Benton and Mrs. Jack Owens of Peoria, Ill.

For travel, the bride wore a white suit with black and white patent spectator shoes and bag and white hat and gloves. She pinned to her shoulder the orchid from her bouquet.

After a wedding trip to points of interest in Tennessee and Georgia, the couple will be temporarily staying at 2012 Brewer Blvd., Atlanta, Ga.

Wanted Man Jailed

MEMPHIS (AP)—Memphis authorities have arrested Walter Lee Bledsoe, 36, accused of taking $5,870 from an elderly Washington widow for a $30 roof repair job. He was turned over to Covington, Tenn. authorities to face a charge of larceny and obtaining money under false pretenses. Bledsoe is also wanted in Yell County, Ark., on a false pretense charge.

Judge Named

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus has named Lawdon Branscum of Marshall as Searcy County judge to succeed the late Ted Sanders. Branscum is a businessman and business leader in Searcy and served two terms as Republican state representative. He retired as county judge defeated after three terms.

Winning the coveted award at the Gaslight Bowl in Emmet this past week were Margie Harrie of Hope and Hugh McElhinney, age of 161—highest lady bowler in this area. Hugh topped the local men with an average of 181.

They Liked That Reader Rail Trip

By RUTH M. MALONE

The most fun I ever had! That was the remark made all day by the people from seven states, who rode the Reader Railroad on May 9, 1963. It is America's only remaining all steam powered rail line operating regular mixed trains.

On this recent date, the Possum Trot Line officially inaugurated passenger service over its 23 mile line. Guests included Governor and Mrs. Orval Faubus and leading newspaper, radio and television people from Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma and Missouri.

One nationally known husband and wife writer photographer team estimated the number of films shot during the day numbered into the thousands. Frankie and Bern Keating couldn't be far off if the number of rolls of film they used was any indication.

And it was "All . . . A—Board" many times during the day when the train made frequent stops for its passengers to get off for a few minutes to see the sights at such fascinating places as Possum Trot, Dill's Mill, Goose Creek, or the old Washington Post Road near Anthony Switch where a post peeling plant is located.

The Terrapin Neck Community is only shown once on the colorful brochure map with its 23 service miles where the Possum Trot Line gives year round service, but most passengers agreed turtles were in evidence all along the road. Many beaver dams were passed but only one man reported seeing a beaver.

Shortly after the train left Cummings Spring was a favorite spot for shuttlers to click as the track made a curve and the engine could be seen chugging along with black smoke coming out of the smokestack in lions and puffs.

Through the years so many visitors from all over the United States have gone to the charming little green and white depot at Reader and asked if they might like a ride on the train with its prairie type locomotive that T. W. M. Long, Reader President, had the line authorized to carry passengers by the Arkansas Commerce commission some months ago.

The train is complete with steam locomotive, Parlor Car-Lounge, combination passenger baggage car and red caboose so passengers have an opportunity to enjoy deluxe service or sit on the end of the train in the colorful caboose, and watch the panorama of interesting sights.

Before the train reaches Waterloo 23.5 miles away from Reader, it crosses Caney Creek seven times and goes through lowlands which necessitate the railroad to maintain 123 trestles.

One very interested passenger was the mother of Margaret Long (Secretary-treasurer and wife of the President of the line). "Honey" as her grandson called her recalled many events and incidents of the early history of the line when her father-in-law, A. J. Johnson founded the line in 1925 to serve Nevada County's oil fields and to log Mansfield Hardwood Lumber Company's mill at Reader. This delightful lady was as pleased as any youngster when she rode for awhile in the engineer's cab.

Tom Long said, "The Reader Railroad is a common carrier and operates under the authority of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Arkansas Commerce Commission so passengers will have an opportunity to be aboard a real train doing a real job."

Passengers enjoyed a wonderful picnic at Waterloo while the engine switched and worked. Later they toured the Berry Asphalt plant while the train took on tank cars for the return trip. Going home was pleasant and conversations of nostalgic memories gave each passenger an idea of the treat in store for the hundreds who have made reservations on the Possum Trot line.

Fire Destroys Polar Palace

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ice skaters around the world knew the old Polar Palace. It was a Hollywood landmark.

Workmen finished remodeling it recently. The Pacific skating championships were to have been held there at the end of the year. But early Thursday, a fire broke out in its coffee shop. It blazed through the structure, threatening a movie sound stage next door.

Sixteen fire companies battled the flames. They didn't have much luck. The building was gutted. Firemen estimated the loss at $300,000.

Timber Clearing

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An apparent low bid of $523,000 has been submitted by the Leo Journeag Construction Co., Inc., of Crane, Mo., on the second phase of timber clearing in the Beaver Reservoir in Benton and Washington counties. The project covers the area from Monte Ne to the end of the reservoir east of Fayetteville.

QUESTIONS MAN'S RIGHT TO TITLE OF LORD AND MASTER

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: You seem to think we women are inferior to men. I just don't go along with your advice to wives about toeing the mark for their husbands. Why? We're every bit as bright, far more sensitive and quite heroic when it comes to pain. A man is a cry baby; if he has so much as a toe-ache yet a woman will go through childbirth not once, but many times, without a whimper.

We got a raw deal all the way around. In business a woman will work alongside a man, do the same job better and draw half the pay. At home she must ask her husband's permission before even doing a little thing like buying a new sprinkler head for the garden hose.

How often do I hear, "My husband will shoot me if I don't have his dinner on time," or "I'd take a job but my husband says, 'No soap,'" or, "I'll have to ask my husband if I can go," and so on ad infinitum.

Why should a man have all the power? I love my husband dearly, but hate being a woman because I feel inferior. Whoever promoted the idea that a man was lord and master should be shot at sunrise, centuries. The project covers the area from Monte Ne to the end of the reservoir east of Fayetteville.

Dear Just: If we pamper our men (I do my husband), it is the mother instinct in us. When we defer to them we may be subconsciously bragging a bit for we like to feel wanted. To say that your husband will shoot you if you don't get his dinner on time is just another way of telling the world he needs you. The clinging vine wife clings only because it is to her interest to do so.

Make no mistake. Man is putty in the hands of intelligent woman. If she loves him, she'll use that power wisely. As for the economic aspect, many working wives earn as much or more than their husbands.

Dear Helen: I'm a frustrated writer from way back; haven't the faintest fancy of writing a novel as I'm lousy at dialogue but would love to try my hand at feature writing. Lacking a creative mind, I'd have difficulty in knitting together the plot for a fiction story but am very good at riding piggy-back on someone else's ideas. Every sentence I read on a printed page inspires me with thoughts for rebuttal.

Would you give me your honest opinion on this: Is it true that a writer's best efforts stem from practical experience? I'm inclined to believe this and since I've spent the last 17 years of my life in a wheel chair, I've turned out articles about invalidism and medicine of which I'm quite proud. My one trouble seems to

Arts Center Dedication Is Friday

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Art experts, artists and art fanciers gathered in Little Rock today for dedication of the multi-million dollar Arkansas Arts Center.

Center members got a preview and a look at 62 European paintings on display for the opening Friday night.

Sculpture by 11 leading sculptors from Arkansas and the Southwest also is on display.

Formal activities start tonight with a banquet and two performances by singer Gordon McRae.

Arkansas members of The Associated Press will be special guests at the banquet and at McRae's second performance, which will be for invited guests only.

The public may attend McRae's first show. Tickets cost $5.

John Rorimer, curator of the Metropolitan Museum of Art at New York, which lent the paintings on display, attended Friday night's activities.

Other special guests today will include Joan Fontaine, the Academy Award-winning actress; Robert Shalkop, director of the Brooks Memorial Art Gallery at Memphis, and William E. Steadman, former director of the Little Rock Fine Arts Museum, now director of the University of Arizona Art Gallery.

The dedication ceremonies are scheduled at 11 a.m. Saturday.

Escape Try Fails

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Three inmates broke out of a ward at the State Hospital Thursday, but were blocked from escape by electrical operated doors. Hospital Administrator George Jackson said the men were armed with a broomstick into which they had inserted a sharpened wire. He said they offered no resistance to state police who arrived minutes after the breakout attempt.

be making my work look objective. I write everything in the first person and wonder if I'd have better luck shifting to the third, as if telling about somebody else. I'm deeply interested in politics on a national scale but don't like women in political positions. I'd rather be the inspiration for a man holding the job than the one holding it. —N.

Dear N.: Familiarity with a subject loosens thoughts and pen. Most writers draw subconsciously upon first hand but often forgotten experiences—as Dickens did upon his memory of the strange characters who trooped through the London courts when he was recording clerk. Poe, on the other hand, wrote "The Murders of the Rue Morgue" without ever having seen Paris. One was at heart a journalist subconsciously card-indexing first hand experiences; the other, a creative genius, drawing upon imagination for inspiration.

Don't worry. Beginners usually find it easier to write in the first person. For practice, try a third person piece about women in politics. And be sure to say why you think they're wash-outs in that field.

Dear Helen: Would you please tell "Lonely, Desperate Widow" who is waiting for her sweetheart to divorce that, if it weren't for her breed, there would be fewer separations or about-to-be-divorced men.

A "lonely" widow has chased my husband for years but I'm not divorcing until my kids are grown and on their own. If she's still after him I may never divorce—not that I love him but to spite her. He is such a weak character. When I think that I could have had a good man and drew this two-timer instead, it is to weep. —Lonely, Desperate Wife.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

AIC to Take Peek at State Police Audit

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Legislative Joint Audit Committee decided today to take a preliminary look at the State Police audit report at a special meeting June 20.

Several legislators asked for a special State Police audit after the department curtailed services as an economy move in March.

The special meeting will be held the day before the committee's regular meeting June 21.

Rep. Harry Colay of Columbia County made the motion for the special meeting and asked that State Police Director Herman Lindsey attend with his assistants.

State Police services have been restored but the services have been run out of money in October or November at the present rate of activity.

THE STORY: The neighbors are holding a barbecue at Dr. Howdershell's residence.

CHAPTER VI

By 6:30, the group was complete, and the feast was magnificent. Noisy, too. The children rode their tricycles on the ledge, and fell off. Will Wesley began to make urgent plans for Smokey to build a swimming pool beyond the terrace.

Comparative quiet fell with the serving of the food. Aunt Bebe held the Saputo baby, and looked blissful. She resents the fact that I've let our house go empty or so long. The children ate, and gradually returned to their play, taking a roll, a rib bone, a cookie with them.

The rest of us ate, drank coffee, and talked about the town's problems, as usual.

Lovey spoke bitterly of the restrictions which had been put upon her lately by her father. "You'd think I was a child!" Pally echoed her discontent. "Nobody's going to bother us if we behave ourselves. And we do."

Keyes said some of the town boys were beginning to act rough. "What about the college boys?" I asked.

"There respectability is the fashionable thing this year," he said. "Vests are in style and you can't be rowdy in a vest."

Betty Hinton was telling of the transient people who were living in the apartment house next to Dick's aunt and uncle. There was a certain young man, she said, no more than 21 or two, a slocky chap with yellow hair, red cheeks, flat blue eyes—

"And you don't like him," said Tony Saputo.

Betty flared. "No! I don't like him!" She agreed. "And my not liking him is disturbing to me. It is especially disturbing, I find, to be innocent, to be guilty of nothing worse than the snobbery of feeling you are better than your neighbor on the basis of your behaving better, of speaking better grammar, having more cultural tastes, and then to be attacked obscenely by that same neighbor."

"Betty!" I protested.

"I mean it," she said. "Attack is just the word. Look! I go over to Uncle Charles and Aunt Onie's several times a week. It lets Aunt Onie get out for a bit if she wants to." Five years before Dick's uncle had suffered a brain injury in a car wreck caused by some reckless teen-ager in a hot rod. Since then he had been confined to a wheel chair, paralyzed on his right side, and unable to talk.

"And these people who have moved into part of the house next door — this man —" Betty bit at her lip, and looked down at her hands. "Mind you," she said tensely, "they choose Uncle Charles for a neighbor! He and Aunt Onie had no say in the matter. But there they are, living in three rooms of that house next door; this man works night, I guess, because he is at home a good deal in the daytime. I think they are running a night shift at the dormitories, aren't they, Keyes?"

Keyes nodded. "Three to midnight or something like that," he said.

"It would be rough work," said Betty. Her dark eyes looked tensely around at us. "There Uncle Charles sits," she said, "the victim of the young people he loved when he taught at the college, and he likes them still, which is one miracle. Another is that he, a hemiplegic, has learned to whistle. You told me, Smokey, that it was remarkable."

"It is," said Smokey gravely. "Since he can't talk — yest, he is a remarkable man."

Betty nodded. "It is heartwarming," she said, "to hear him imitate bird calls, and draw their replies. And what could be more harmless than a crippled man sitting in his wheel chair under a lilac bush talking with the song birds?"

Richard, her husband, put his hand on Betty's shoulder.

Collected His Fee Hard Way

HUNTINGTON, N.Y. (AP) — It made sense to Miss Isabelle Gordon, but not to architect Gordon Widenkeller, who worked with his office staff gathering 35,848 of the lady's "namesakes" off the floor.

Miss Penny, 60, lost a court judgment of $358.48 to Widenkeller Thursday despite her contention that she didn't owe the architect anything for building plans, because she didn't use them.

Miss Penny paid with seven bags of pennies which were dumped on the floor.

day a report recommending that state printing contracts be grouped separately and that different groups be let at different times.

Orvel Johnson, legislative auditor, said this would allow anyone to witness bid opening and tabulating.

"This should eliminate any criticism on the opening and letting procedures," Johnson said.

The method of opening and tabulating printing bids has been criticized by some persons in the printing business.

Who is My Neighbor?
Luke 10:25-37

In the long ago an inquirer asked of Jesus, "Who is my neighbor?" Do you suppose Jesus told him only the people who live next door? Six of the Ten Commandments are concerned with how we treat other people... our neighbors. In the light of the Golden Rule, anyone could be my neighbor. For it reads, "Do unto others," and not just to the people whose lots join mine. Neighborliness is certainly one of the finer virtues, but if we would have good neighbors, we must first perform like one. Here in this Sunday school class men are searching the book of Luke for better ways to become neighborly. Are you a good neighbor?

You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

THE CHURCHES OF THIS COMMUNITY ARE THE ONLY INSTITUTIONS WHICH HAVE AS THEIR MAIN FUNCTION, THE TRANSFORMING OF HUMAN LIVES. THEY ARE THE SIGN BOARDS POINTING THE WAY TO GOD.

Sponsors of these messages urge faithful church support. Through these pages the appeal is for all men to stand up and be counted . . . to combat Communism on all fronts . . . to be faithful to God.

OUR PASTORS ARE GOD'S SERVANTS WHO CALL THE SIGNALS AGAINST THE ORGANIZED FORCES OF EVIL. THEY INVITE YOU TO ENLIST ON THE SIDE FOR GOD . . .
